Tomorrow.

Associated Press Dispatches by
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The United States transport Warren, which arrived from Manila last night with the Colorado troops on board, docked at the Government transport wharf early today. The men will not be landed until tomorrow.

Today will be spent in preparing for going into camp at the Presidio. The soldiers will pack their effects, and when the going is made, the men will be in the morning, and the men will be in the morning for the men to take up the last stage of their service to the country.

Camp is being prepared for the soldiers at the Presidio today. Pests are being soiled, and the men are being made ready to prepare the meals for the soldiers, so that by tomorrow morning little will remain to be done to make the Colorado boys comfortable after their long sea voyage.

LABORER'S CONDITION.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The correspondence of the Times at Rennes, who speaks of the release noted by the doctors after the recent examination of M. Labrie wound, says:

This was probably due to the fact that his inability to attend the court-martial while Dreyfus was being subjected to grand inquisition at the hands of Merx, Roget and others preyed upon M. Labrie's mind. The official bulletin pays too little importance to the release.

OSCAR'S INNOVATION.
Oscar, the impressive and dignified head waiter of the Waldorf-Astoria, has a little farm up at Ramsdell, where he raises choice products for use at the hotel's luncheon at Fifth avenue and Thirty-fourth street. A short time ago Oscar sold in a number of rubber stamps assorted sizes, and now, when one of his fine brood of light and barred Plymouth Rock hens lays a fine brown egg

It is stamped in vermilion-colored ink with the time and date on which it was made. Thus you get with the egg your own pedigree, and you pay accordingly.

The Russian government has taken away from 25,000 shops in St. Petersburg the right to sell alcoholic liquors.

has replaced these by 5500 establishments placed under the control of the state and located at equal distances apart. These establishments are directed by young women. The liquor is delivered in bottles, to which is affixed a government mark. The consumer can obtain only one bottle in each shop, and if, when he visits another establishment, he shows least sign of intoxication no liquor will be served him.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1899.
The automobile trip across the continent has proved a failure. It might not, perhaps, be inappropriate to give the new device the "horse laugh."

While Waldorf Astor is having a hard time hunting up his family tree, for every time he locates a branch he encounters all kinds of snags. It seems to be more or less of a chestnut tree, anyhow. So he won't have much to brag about, even if he does succeed in tracing it to its root.

Politics does indeed "make strange bedfellows." Croker and Reed are hobnobbing and have agreed to work together on an anti-imperial policy. Things are indeed coming McKimley's way, for Reed's alliance with the Tammany Tigers disposes of whatever remaining chances he might have had of obtaining the nomination next year.

Governor Case can well afford to follow the precedent set in Utah and declare a legal holiday in honor of the return of the California boys. Since the time THE TRIBUNE launched the project hundreds of endorsements have been made, but not one word of protest. So the Governor need have no trouble in getting a line on public sentiment regarding the proposition.

Another crusade is in progress across the bay against the druggists who sell morphine to the multitude of addicts who hunt the metropolis, and as a fine of $50 has been imposed in the first conviction obtained, it is likely that the illicit business will be stopped, temporarily at least. The druggist who sells the drug is more guilty than the fool who buys it, for he has his senses about him and the other poor wretch has not.

OAKLAND'S HOME-TRADE PROBLEM.

The Merchants Exchange has once more undertaken to impress upon the people of Oakland the advantages to be derived from home trading, and although THE TRIBUNE has repeatedly declared itself upon which an additional utterance is in order.

As a first conclusion it must be evident that the more money that is placed in circulation here, the better will be our condition. There is a percentage of profit on every article purchased, and if it is retained in the local circle it becomes available for use in other directions. The expenditure for the actual cost of an article, of course, rebounds in no good, for the merchant has to turn to pay it over to the wholesaler from whom he made the original purchase. In the cases, however, of where the articles in question are the output of local factories, another and entirely different phase of the situation is created, for in such instances the money filters through a great many more hands locally, resulting in benefits to labor and so forth.

Most of the articles on sale in our stores, though, are imported, and it is upon these that the retailer's profit is obtained. The merchant who handles them spends his money here, for he pays rent, boards and clothes his family, and in countless ways contributes to the general welfare of the community. Is it right, therefore, to deny him the profits upon the commodities he offers for sale, by making purchases in San Francisco that could just as well be made over his counters?

The argument can no longer be advanced that the reason so many Oaklanders do their shopping in San Francisco is because better bargains or a more varied assortment can be obtained in the metropolis. Such is not the case. Compare the stocks and prices of our Oakland establishments with those across the bay, and the comparison will not be to our disadvantage. Our local merchants are not fools. They know only too well the competition they are called upon to meet, and that if they fail to do so they will not be considered. Their stores are stocked with as good and as cheap wares as can be obtained from their metropolitan rivals, and all that they ask is that shoppers will investigate at home before they seek elsewhere.

Local patriotism, too, should enter into the calculations. We are all, presumably, acting for the common good, and the individual who does not seek to help his neighbor along, as well as himself, pursues a short-sighted and suicidal policy. Give local capital and local enterprise first call, and if they fail to respond then go to other markets, but do not reverse the situation and consider Oakland after other fields have been exhausted.

WILL PREVENT FRAUD.
The perfection of the organization of the Oil Exchange, at which will be handled the stocks and bonds issued in connection with the various California petroleum properties, means that from now on the professional promoters and swindling operators who invariably take advantage of an excitement like the present one will find a whip-hand held over their movements.

During the past sixty days many oil companies have been launched, with capitalizations varying from $10,000 to $2,000,000, and it is well known that in a number of instances their oil wells are mythical and that their entire holdings consist of but a few acres of barren land, more or less contiguous to the field of legitimate operations. These bogus concerns, though, are the ones to clamor the loudest about the enormous profits awaiting investors, and unfortunately they too frequently find willing listeners to their siren song.

The Oil Exchange will be in a position to prevent fraudulent operations of this nature, for the securities will be listed in value according to development and indications. It is a good thing for the community that it has appeared upon the scene, for it will to a great extent prevent the further flooding of that credulous element that falls so easy a prey to professional stock manipulators under conditions such as prevail at present.

Some of the interior papers are not showing the proper spirit as regards the laudable efforts being made in San Francisco to raise $5000 with which to welcome the California troops. The Record-Union says, "All sorts of tricks are devised to catch pennies," while the Stockton Mail declares that "A lot of traveling salesmen were blackmailed into giving their services and lending their names to the work of collection." What a bitter taste "sour grapes" leave in the mouth.

The developments in the Dreyfus trial plainly show that he will have to rely absolutely on the strength of his defense in order to obtain an acquittal. It is hard luck to be tried by judges who are prejudiced against him, as is undoubtedly the case with those conducting the court-martial, and now that his cause has been so materially weakened by the absence of Labori, it is little wonder that he is beginning to break down under the terrible strain.

Editor Hearst endeavored to get Emilio Zola to report the Dreyfus trial for the New York Journal and the Examiner, but the princely offer he made was declined. Zola evidently doesn't want to take the chances of any cream getting off the work he is understood to be engaged on in connection with the celebrated case.

Sixty million dollars' worth of ships are in course of construction in American shipyards. President McKimley's appeal for a merchant marine is being answered, especially now that the nation knows we possess a navy capable of defending everything that sails under the Stars and Stripes.

The wave motor is again in evidence, this time Southern California being the scene of operations. The "pro-motor" seems to be the only thing that succeeds in that particular line of business, but the "knuckers" keep on hitting every time the ball is thrown out to them.

The kissing bug appears to have dropped out of sight. It was having a very successful season until it got out West, but we seem to have dispensed of it in one round.

CAKE WALK CARNIVAL IS A BIG SUCCESS.

The features for tonight at the Cake Walk Carnival are a match team or contest cake walk between Fred McKimley, Oakland champion; Everett A. Brown, San Francisco champion; George Stewart, colored champion; Harry Cato and partner, State champion, for a distinct prize and inter-city championship. There will be a team contest also between two couples from Oakland and two couples from San Francisco and the limits of the carnival ended.

Major Waters, the colored champion of Oakland, will walk against George Stewart and his partner, both of San Francisco. The chocolate cake walk and the Chinese cake walk will be given to the public. In addition to this there will be the usual white professional, the amateur songs and dances by some of the best talent that has appeared in the carnival in San Francisco and the limits of the society amateur's contest. The carnival is a big success.

WANTS TO INVEST MONEY OF WARDS

Mary E. Barron has applied to the Supreme Court for permission to invest $67,489 belonging to her wards, William May and Dorothy Barron, in property on Market street, near Turk, San Francisco. The petitioner states that the property can be secured for $10,000 and she is willing to advance the additional cash necessary to purchase the same. The property yields a monthly rent of $50.

LOOKS BLACK FOR DREYFUS.

Indications are That He Will Be Again Convicted of Treason.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The Rennes correspondent of the Tribune, describing Wednesday's proceedings in the trial of Captain Dreyfus, cables:
"The chances of Dreyfus's acquittal are becoming smaller and smaller. Had judgment been pronounced Wednesday night it would in all probability have been a condemnation. The testimony of General Roget made a visibly profound impression on the court. It must be remembered that all the members of the court martial are graduates of the Polytechnic School, and from early youth have been imbued with a respect for military authority and prestige amounting to a religion. It should also be remembered that General Roget, although not employed at the Ministry of War when the discoveries were made there which led to the first Dreyfus court-martial in 1894, was former sub-chief of the fourth bureau of the general staff, and that Dreyfus served under his immediate orders and supervision. General Roget turned toward Dreyfus this morning and in a ringing voice, with unflinching glance, said:
"Dreyfus has denied any knowledge of plans of concentration of troops in case of mobilization; but Dreyfus himself, in 1893, drew three maps, showing the zones of concentration of the French army. These maps are in the fourth bureau of the general staff."
Dreyfus made no reply, but turned and spoke to Maître Demange. General Roget then drank two glasses of water, wiped his forehead with a white handkerchief, and again turning toward Dreyfus, said:
"Dreyfus denied having any knowledge of the manual of arms, but in a letter from Colonel Jeannel, dated June 25, 1893, which I now hand to the court, Colonel Jeannel declares that he distinctly remembers having given Dreyfus a copy of the manual of arms."
It will be remembered that the zones of concentration and the manual of arms are two of the five subjects enumerated in the indictment, and any evidence tending to connect Dreyfus with them is of vital importance. The prisoner's face flushed with hectic excitement as he declared, "It is frightful to be compelled for five days to listen to such charges without being able to defend myself. It is veritable torture to an innocent man."

DREYFUS TURNS PALE.
His face became livid and waxen; he appeared more nervous and disheartened than at any previous period of the trial. Maître Demange seemed embarrassed by his failure to secure an adjournment until Monday, and either from inability or want of mastery of the facts, made no attempt by scrutinizing cross-examination, as Maître Labori would doubtless have done, to sift out the truth of General Roget's testimony, which, like that of Mercier, Billot, Zurlinden and Cavellane, is an impassioned pleading for the prosecution. All the rest of General Roget's evidence was a violent and irrelevant diatribe against Colonel Picquart.

MME. HENRY'S TESTIMONY.
General Mercier, in civilian dress, and General Zurlinden, in uniform, and General Billot, in uniform, seemed immensely pleased when Madame Henry testified that she had no knowledge of the person whom her late husband referred to in his famous last letter to her, when he said: "You know in whose interest I am acting."
A galaxy of general officers congratulated Madame Henry when she descended from the witness stand, and from their radiant countenances it could be read that they regarded Dreyfus's condemnation as a foregone conclusion.

Unprecedented Demand for all Kinds of Meat.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The Record says: Investigation at the stockyards in regard to the recent advances in the price of beef brought out the statement that never before in the history of the American cattle market has there been such a demand for all kinds of meat as at the present time. The demand for export cattle is enormous. The statement is made that the prices of all cattle will be higher next year than they are now, but in three years, when all the thousands of feeders and their way into the market, there is likely to be a slump of from 2 to 3 cents. This year Kansas has 20,000 head of cattle, which is a record breaker for that State. The big ranches in Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota are sending cattle at present.

The one most benefited by the increase in price is the stock raiser. At present the ranchman's gross profit is more than 100 per cent, making it necessary for the packers to advance the prices on all dressed meats.

The prices quoted yesterday to local butchers were 3 cents a pound for best hunchers, 2 cents for the whole carcasses, and 1 1/2 cents a pound for ribs and ribs, when taken in even sets. One lot of sixty barrels of the latter was sold at 1 1/2 cents a pound. All other meats have been more or less affected. Prices have come up in pork, mutton, veal and all dried and smoked meats.

NEW LIGHT ORDINANCE IS NOW ENFORCED.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 17.—The police began the enforcement of the new light law last night, with the result that just one-half hour later the city was in darkness. The new ordinance, which was passed by the city council, requires that all vehicles be lighted up at night, and that the lights be of a certain color and brightness. The ordinance is now being enforced by the police, and several vehicles have been stopped and fined for violating the law.

WILL OAKLAND SCHOOLS BE CLOSED?

Many inquiries are being made by people living in all parts of the city in regard to the closing of the public schools on the arrival of the first California Regiment.

Deputy Superintendent of Schools' York stated today that no action in regard to the matter had been taken as yet. It is probable, however, that the schools will be closed on the day in question.

DR. LAW STILL REFUSES TO RESIGN.

The trustees of the Church of the Advent in East Oakland have been startled by the statement made by the Rev. Marshall Law, in a New York paper, that he has not resigned as pastor of the church.

According to the ecclesiastical law of the church a pastor cannot be named until the previous incumbent has formally resigned.

When Dr. Law went East he left a written agreement by which, certain events being complied with, he would present his resignation on or before October. If he fails to do this an appeal will be made to the Bishop to force his retirement from the pastorate.

An Attractive Program.
A cake walk by amateurs and professionals will be one of the attractions at the entertainment and ball given by Company A, Fifth Regiment, N. G. C., this evening, for the benefit of the California medal fund. Harry Carroll and Louis Barney, the champion walkers at the recent cake walking carnival in San Francisco, will participate. The members of the Fifth Regiment Band and the Elk Quartet have donated their services.

Among the artists to appear are Miss M. Addis, George Tremble, Miss Marie Winston and Miss Hattie Savage.

Officers to be Elected.
This evening an election for second Lieutenant of Company A, Fifth Regiment, N. G. C., will take place. The officer will be chosen at a meeting held before the military entertainment, and ball to be given by the company.

THE ROUNDERS.

I was of the opinion that a sergeant of police was employed for the purpose of going over the heads of the officers and seeing that the gentlemen gave the city full value for the salary paid. It was for this reason that I noticed the fact that Sergeant Clark spent three hours last evening watching the cake walkers. Perhaps he was present for the purpose of seeing that the officers were stationed at the Exposition Hall for the purpose of keeping order.

United States Immigration Commissioner Hart North told me the other day that he thought he would soon be called to Washington on official business. After he has concluded his business at Washington he intends to take a run over to Paris and be gone two months. Hart is contemplating a fine trip across the pond. He says now he has a chance to make the trip, and if he does not accept the opportunity, the chance may never come again.

School Superintendent Hughes of Alameda seems to be making a very efficient officer. I heard with a great deal of interest his annual report presented to the Board of Education last Monday evening.

If you have spare time on your hands, and want a pleasant outing, just take a trip to the thriving towns of Alameda and Upper Fruitvale. The people in these two districts are very progressive.

Captain John Hackett seems to have his hands full of trouble with the famous race horse Turf. Several law-suits are now pending over the ownership of the racer.

The Linda Vista Improvement Club has now come to the front. Linda Vista includes quite a prominent district, and I am pleased to see the people taking an interest in public matters. The club has just voted in favor of the issuance of bonds in the sum of $2,000 for public improvement. There certainly seems to be a growing sentiment in favor of bonding the city.

The Comanche gurs are fast going into old iron. I am glad that the city did not make the mistake of purchasing them for $50.

I think that all will agree with me when I say that the Board of Works did a good thing in letting the contractor dredge Lake Merritt. The park below the Twelfth street dam will be a fine thing for Oakland.

MORE SOLDIERS.

PAPA'S DAY DREAM.
She has gone, with twenty trunks, down to the sea,
She has gone and left the hired girl and me,
And taken Sue and May
Seven hundred miles away,
Where the sultry breeze is blowing fresh and free.

Flinging money I have had to earn away,
She is choosing other sons
For my darling little ones—
Ah, the younger of them's 26 today!

She has gone, with twenty trunks, down to the sea,
To try to find two sons-in-law for me.
I am pestered with a fear
From which I vainly struggle to be free.

She is far away beside the ocean blue,
With the darlings that we live for, May
Oh, when they quit the shore
Shall I have to toil for
Instead of merely working on for two?

666 HEALTH
A vivacious woman's fan can, frequently speak in more eloquent language than any known to man. I can move or teep, sigh or smile, be meek or haughty, tear or laugh, to the heart's content. It can also tell the story of health. A woman who suffers from weakness and disease in a womanly way, who is in sorrow and dejection while her healthy sisters enjoy themselves. She may be naturally healthy, naturally attractive, naturally interesting and animated and witty, but the demon of ill-health is gnawing at the very vitals of her womanly nature, and she soon becomes a withered wall flower in comparison with her brighter and more healthy sisters. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a wonderful medicine for women who suffer in this way. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in womanhood and motherhood. It tones and builds up the shattered nerves. It restores the glow of health to the pallid cheek. It gives the springiness and trip to the carriage. It makes the eyes sparkle with returning vivacity. It imparts animation to the mind and restores the fun that long lay listless and idle in the lap of an invalid again. It speaks the clearest language of a healthy, happy woman. Thousands of women have testified to the marvelous merits of this wonderful medicine.

For several years I suffered with prolapsus of the uterus," writes Miss A. Lee Schuster of Box 12, Rodney, Jefferson Co., Miss. "Our family physician tried to cure me with everything else but the right thing. I grew worse and worse. My body was emaciated, hands and feet cold, and I was unable to walk with great palpitation of the heart. I would suffer with nausea all night. I began taking your Favorite Prescription and I began to prove right away. I have taken three bottles and now I am very nearly well and am very happy and thankful."

Keep your head up and your bowels open. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will put steel in your backbone, and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure constipation.
